ACADEMIC LIFE

DEPARTMENT

New to the Department of Biology this year are a laboratory assistant and a course in marine biology. Mrs. Emillia Ward, laboratory assistant, teaches some general biology laboratories and assists in other departmental activities. The introductory marine biology course includes several field trips to nearby coastal areas.

BIOLOGY

BUSINESS AD

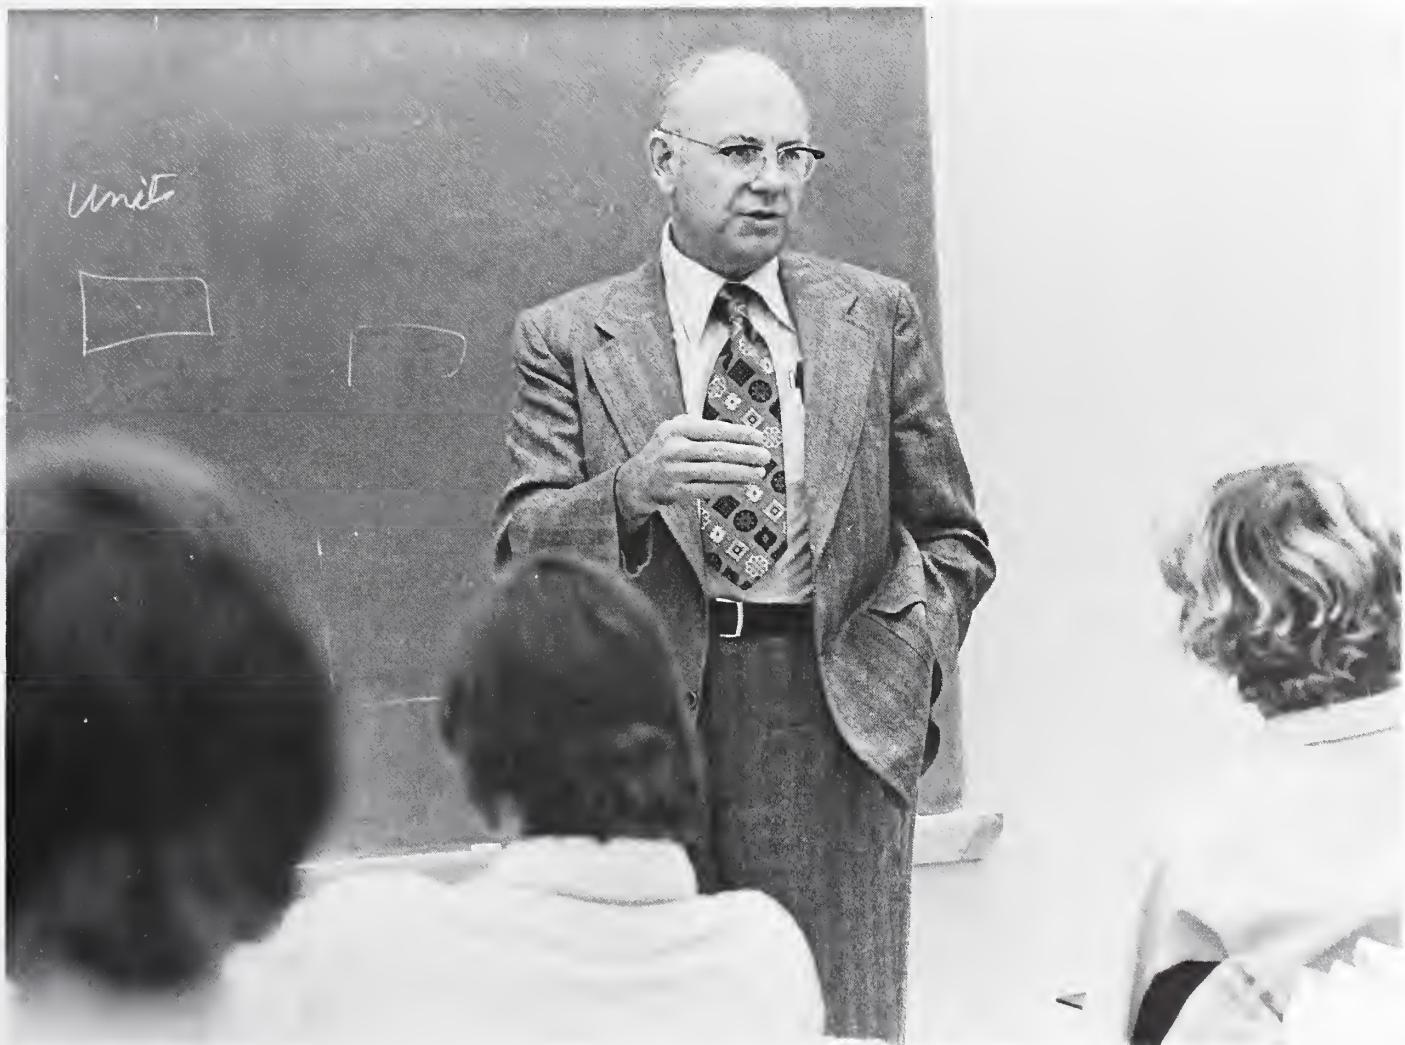

Student interest in business majors continues to increase at Francis Marion College. At Third Commencement in May, 35 degrees in Business Administration and Economics were conferred on the Class of '74.

The Department of Business Administration offers comprehensive studies in the areas of accounting, economics, management, marketing, and business law and policy.

Three majors are offered by the Department: Business Administration, Economics, and Administrative Technology (which is administered jointly with Florence-Darlington TEC).

In addition to its regular courses, the Department sponsors special seminars and lectures on current business topics for its students and the benefit of businessmen in the community. The Department believes that better educated businessmen can provide a healthier, more productive economy at local, state and national levels.

ECONOMICS DEPT.

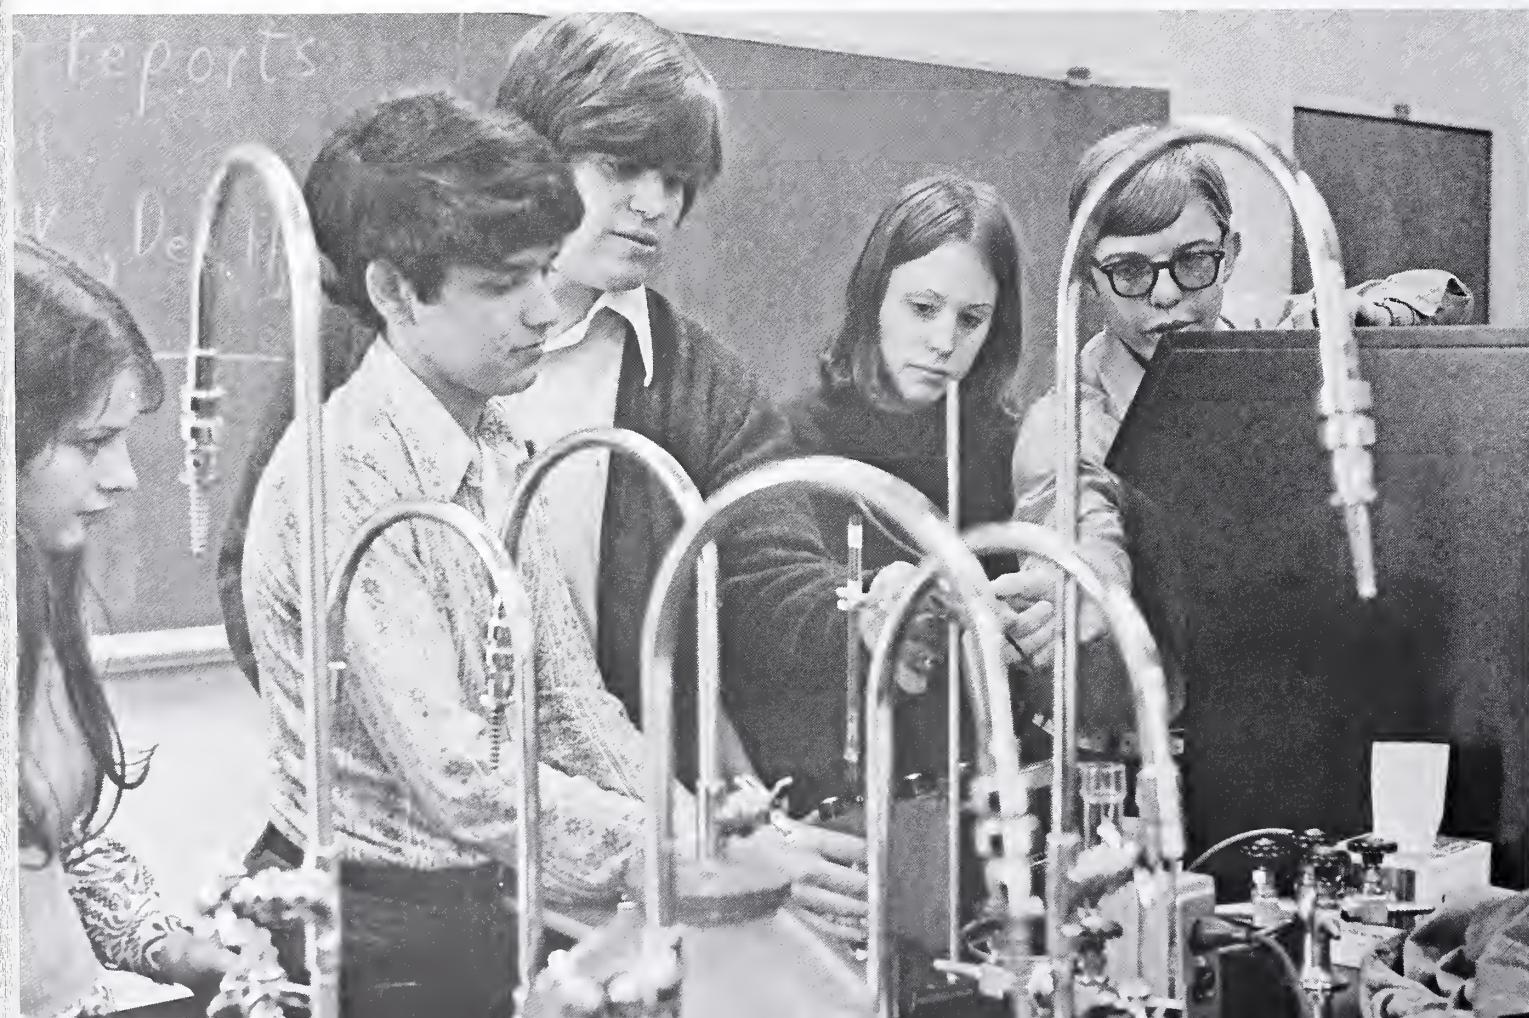

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

The Department of Chemistry and Physics offers professional training in chemistry and courses in chemistry, physics, and physical science to accompany a broad general education. The faculty, staff and facilities are all geared to give each student the opportunity to develop his or her scientific knowledge and ability to the fullest extent.

In the pursuit of these goals the Department of Chemistry and Physics had a very active year. Enrollments continued to grow resulting in new sections of established courses. In response to student needs, new courses in Biochemistry, Mechanics, and Electrodynamics were added. Several major equipment additions were made to the Department's already excellent array of instruments. Among the items added were a scanning fluorometer, an optical holography system and a high-frequency dual-trace oscilloscope.

CHEMISTRY

EDUCATION

The Education Department offers the student interested in teaching a wide choice of professional training opportunities.

Programs are available that will prepare students to teach from kindergarten to high school.

Beginning with the first education course, History and Philosophy of Education, the student is given a chance to work with children. Students taking this course are placed in a suitable public school for four hours a week for the entire semester. This experience not only makes on-campus classwork more meaningful but also aids the student in deciding whether or not to select education as a career.

DEPARTMENT

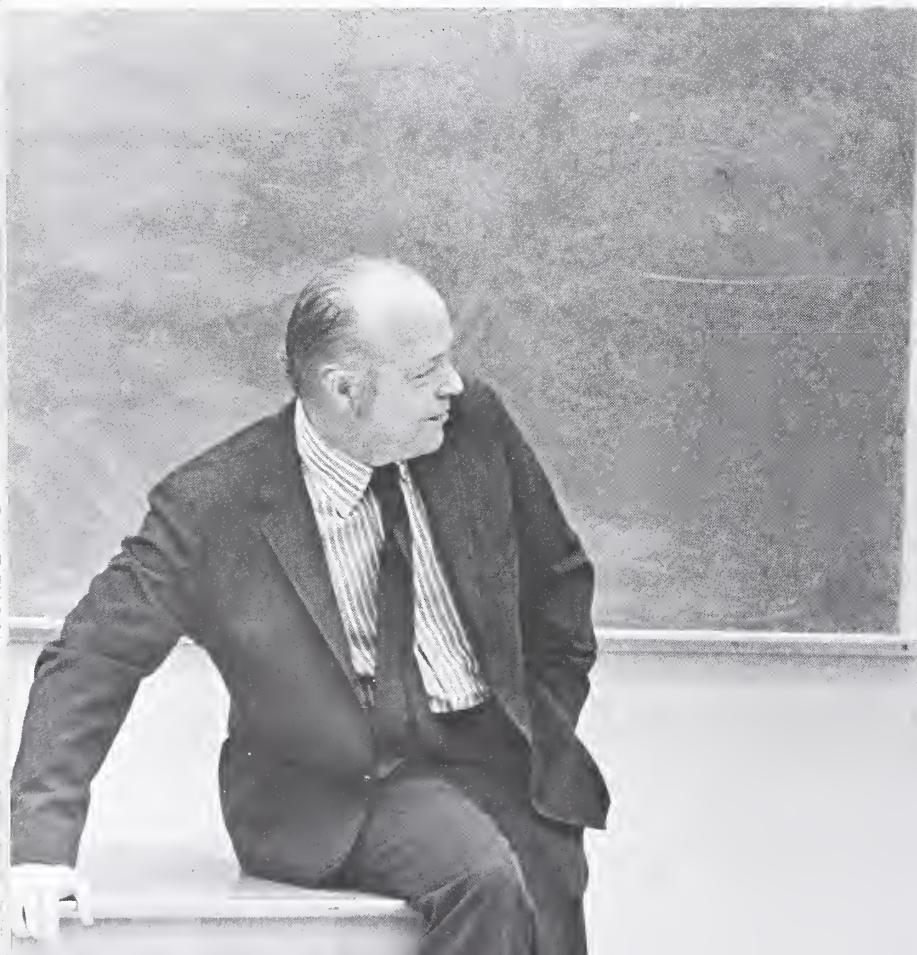

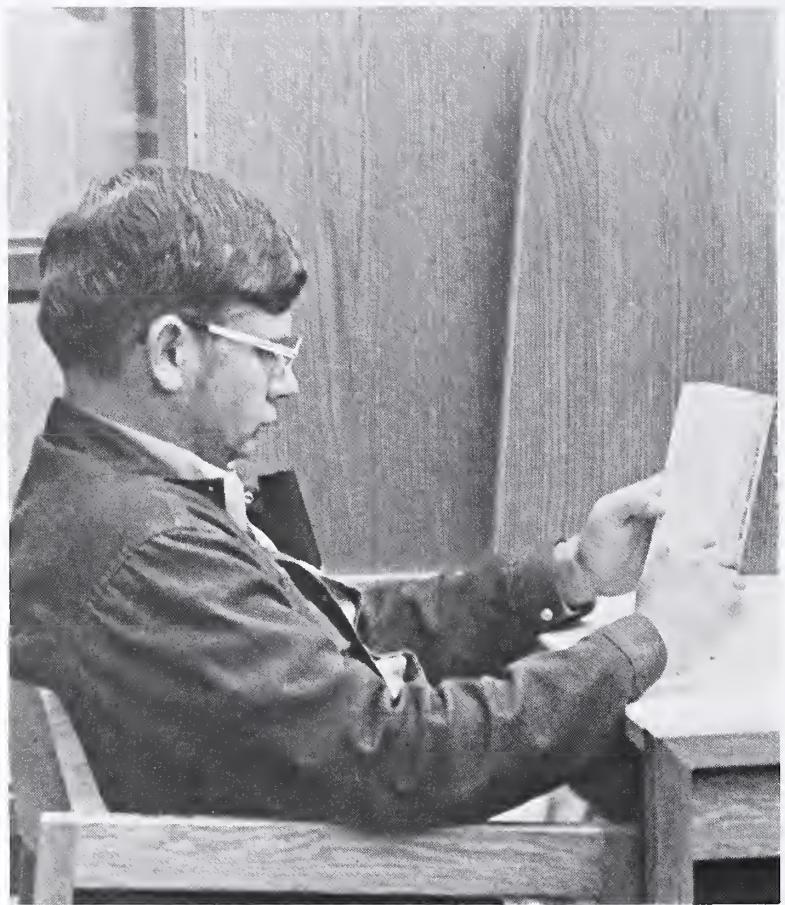

During the 1973-74 academic year, the Department of English, while strengthening its programs on campus, began a series of cooperative ventures with local high schools. Perhaps the most popular of these efforts was the English Department Film Series, which during the Spring Semester, presented MACBETH, TO KILL A MOCK-

INGBIRD, and THE RED BADGE OF COURAGE. More than 1200 people came to the films (including more than 600 high school students). The department also inaugurated a mini-lecture bureau whereby members of the department would go into the high schools to discuss literature with the students. In April, a Composition

Workshop for high school teachers was held with James M. McGrimmon, author of WRITING WITH A PURPOSE, as guest speaker. The department plans to continue the film series for the next academic year. In addition, the department has broadened its on-campus programs by instituting a course in Black Literature which will be a part of the sophomore literature program.

FINE ARTS

DEPARTMENT

The Fine Arts Department consists of Art, Music, Speech, and Theatre. In addition to course offerings such as Introduction to Music, Drawing, Painting, and Acting, the department sponsors guest recitals, faculty recitals, chorus concerts, plays, and very limited art exhibitions. As more facilities become available, the department hopes to broaden its activities in several ways. For example, a wind ensemble will begin in the fall, more play productions are in the offing and art shows will be expanded as soon as suitable space is found.

All in all, the Fine Arts Department provides courses leading to the minor in art (a major is available through the cooperative fourth year program with the University of South Carolina), a collateral in art or music and many services for the school and the community.

Chairman Hans Lischka taught only one class in order to be able to carry out a special study of educational technology in the United States. The results of his research will be used in planning a media center at FMC.

John Britton continued his scholarly activities with publication of "Urban Education and Social Change in the Mexican Revolution, 1931-1940" in the JOURNAL OF LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES; with a research project centered on the career of Carleton Beals; and by attending the Southeastern Conference on Latin American Studies Convention in Atlanta.

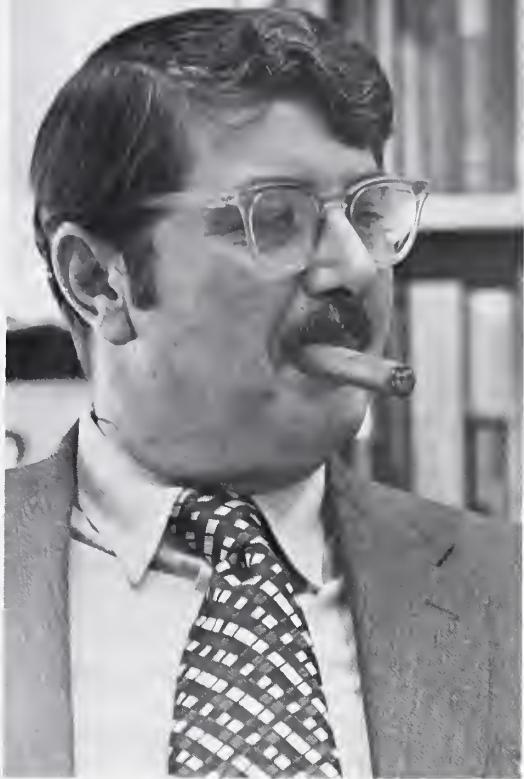

Theodore W. Cart managed to build a new home in the country; publish "The Lacey Act: America's First Nationwide Statute" in FOREST HISTORY; make the civic club circuit with his well-received "Watergate Talk"; continue his researches into the history of conservation in the United States; and serve as lecture series chairman.

Pres. Crews not only continued to offer students insight into English and European history, but also passed written and oral examinations at the University of South Carolina.

DEPARTMENT

HISTORY

DEPARTMENT

To make the abstract concrete and to make the concrete abstract is the aim of the Mathematics Department.

To this end the department offers a variety of courses--many to aid students concentrating in other disciplines to master concepts necessary in those fields. Students majoring in Chemistry, Biology, Psychology, Engineering Technology, Economics, Business Administration, Statistics, Sociology and Political Science find mathematics courses at FMC very rewarding.

The "pure" mathematics courses employ students' logic and reasoning abilities to recreate and structure the mathematical concepts developed over the ages. An appreciation of the elegance and beauty of mathematics is thus a rewarding by-product of study in this area in which many FMC students find real opportunity for success upon graduation.

LANGUAGE DEPT.

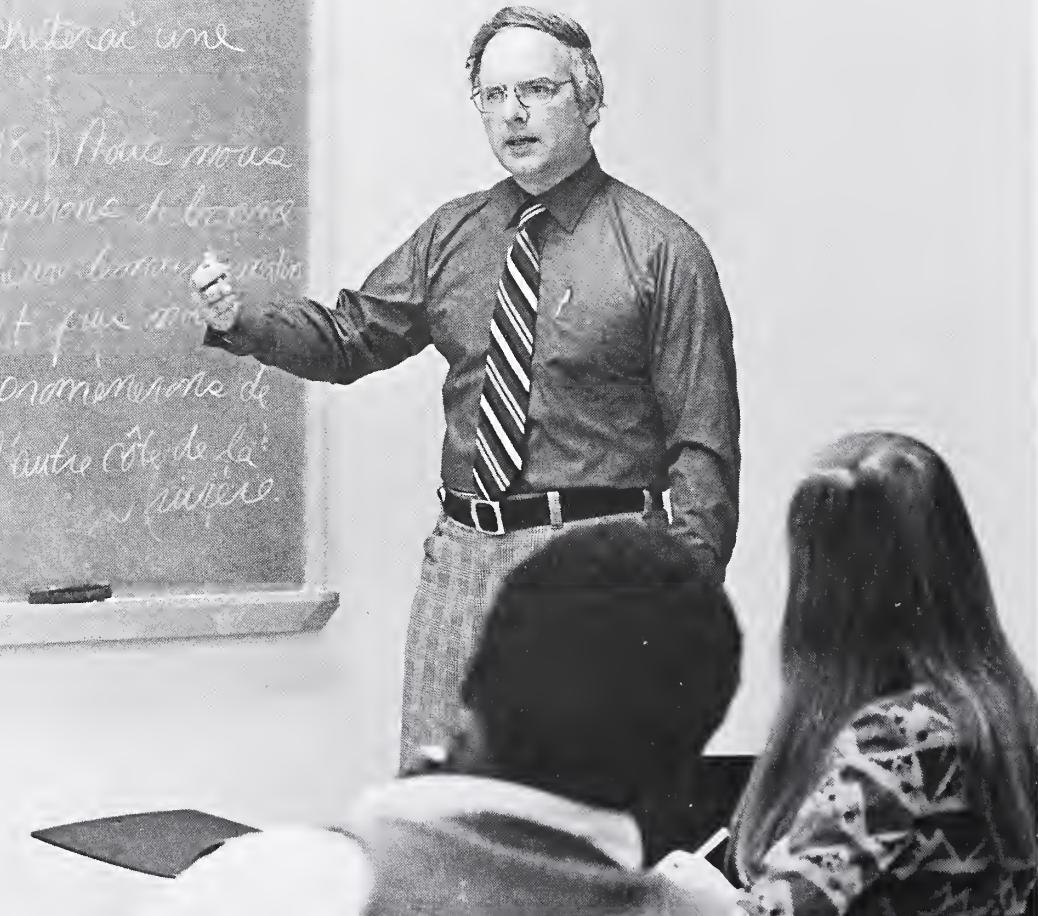

The Modern Language Department offers students a major in French and in Spanish, and is preparing a collateral in German. Two new teachers, Miss Marie Hayes, MA in French from UNC - Chapel Hill, and Mr. Tom Vinson, MA Yale University, have added quality to our program this year. Drs. Albaran, Crow and James continue with us.

We propose to introduce the student not only to the language but also to some of the customs and culture of the land where the foreign language is spoken. Knowledge of a foreign language is a matter not only of personal satisfaction but of much assistance in obtaining many jobs in industry, in the government, and in the teaching profession.

POLITICAL

Political science is the systematic study of political life. Political scientists study government, political parties, pressure groups, international relations, and public administration. All of these are activities of individuals and groups, and involve basic human relationships. Political science deals with such fundamental values as equality, freedom, justice, and power.

Political science is closely related to history, law, philosophy, and sociology.

The field of political science is growing rapidly. Many research specialists and teachers choose careers in political science. They often participate in government programs as advisors. They also act as consultants to legislators or other public officials.

SCIENCE DEPT.

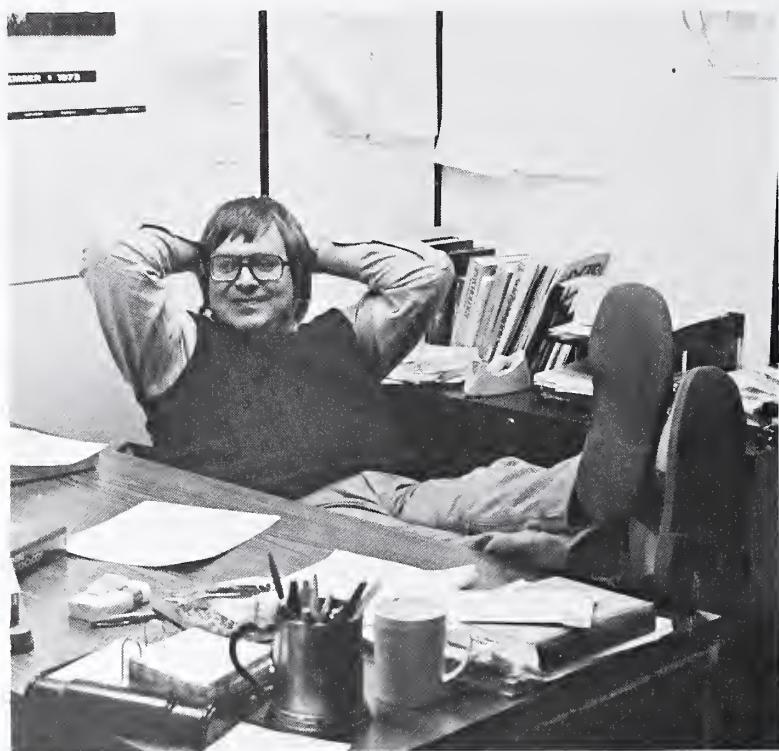

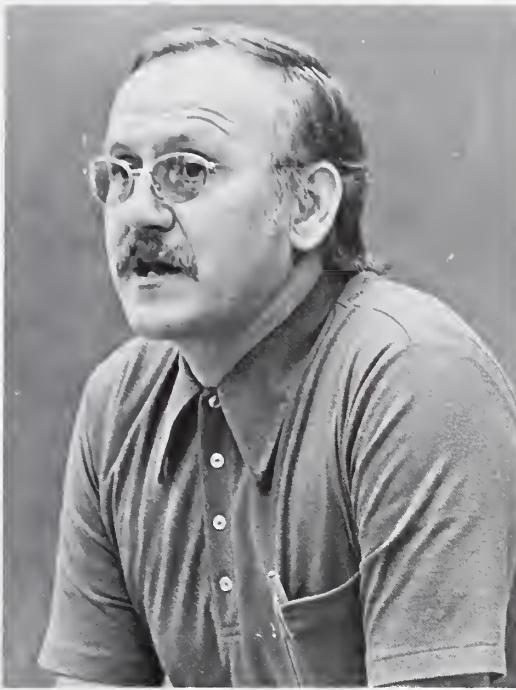

PSYCHOLOGY

DEPARTMENT

Psychology is the science that studies why human beings and animals behave as they do. Psychologists are interested in understanding the whole range of human experience, including the reasons for people's motives, thoughts, feelings, and emotions. These problems have puzzled man for centuries. But the scientific study of such problems began only in the mid-1800's.

Most psychologists have a Ph.D. or M.A. degree, rather than medical-school training.

SOCIOLOGY

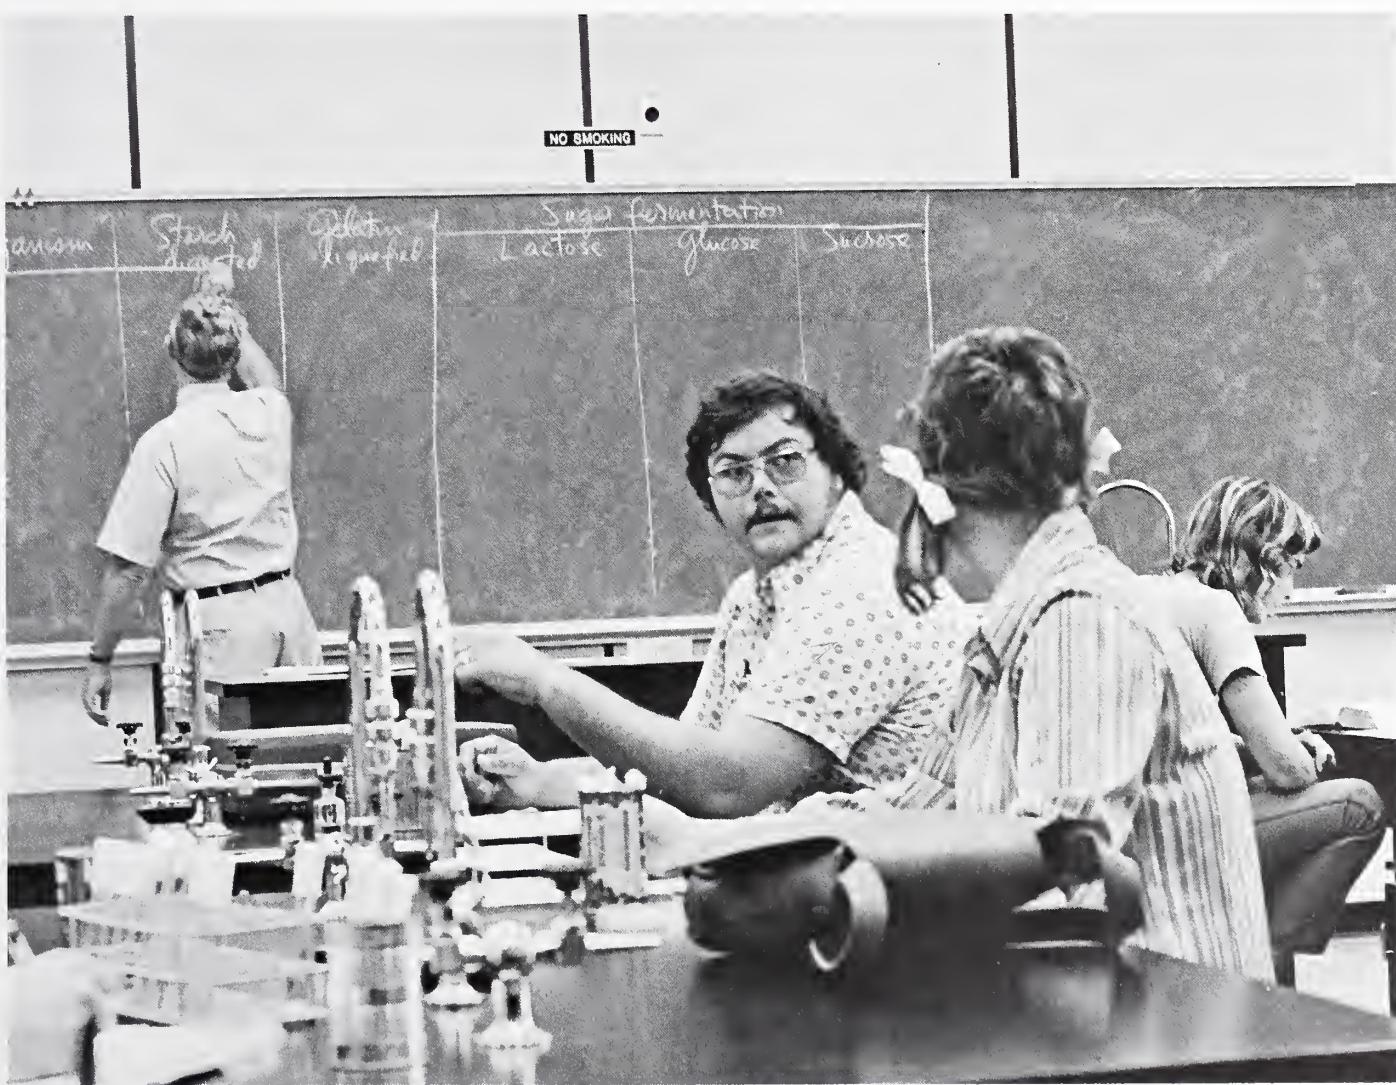

The Sociology Department at Francis Marion College is designed to serve several purposes. The first is that of understanding patterns of interaction among persons. In this sense, sociology is essential to our lives regardless of the career we choose. The second purpose is that of preparing one for a variety of pursuits following graduation, to include graduate study which is a stepping stone to involvement in the profession of sociology. Another is preparation for one of the careers in social service, such as social work or some other help-related profession.

The department has been in existence for two years, but already has graduated a number of students who have gone on to graduate schools. At the present time there are between 70 and 80 students who have declared sociology as their major.

Subject: PATRIOT WEEK FESTIVITIES AT FRANCIS MARION COLLEGE

Take a generous portion of frivolity; add five days of fun and games; mix well a faculty, student body and administrative staff; place this concoction between two dances -- and what do you have?

Patriot Week at Francis Marion College.

With a new school year getting underway, the FMC Student Government Association set aside off-class hours this week (Sept. 17-21) to promote feelings of unity and campus patriotism among new and returning students. The faculty and staff also pitched in with lighthearted abandon, participating in sack races, relay games and pie-eating contests.

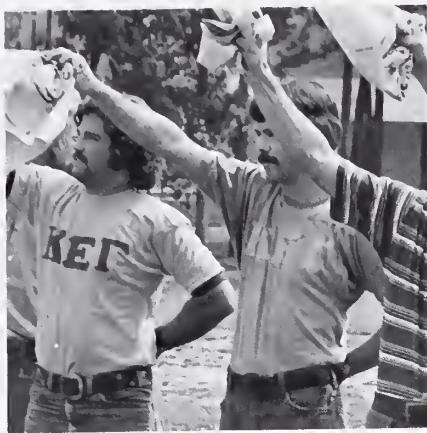

An all-you-can-eat-for-25-cents pancake breakfast kicked off the third annual event on Monday morning. Egg throwing, balloon stomping, and novelty races set the pace for Tuesday and Thursday. Wednesday was Red, White and Blue Day (the school's colors), and prizes were awarded for the most unusual and colorful costumes on campus.

Local merchants contributed more than $750 in prizes for winners of the week's events.

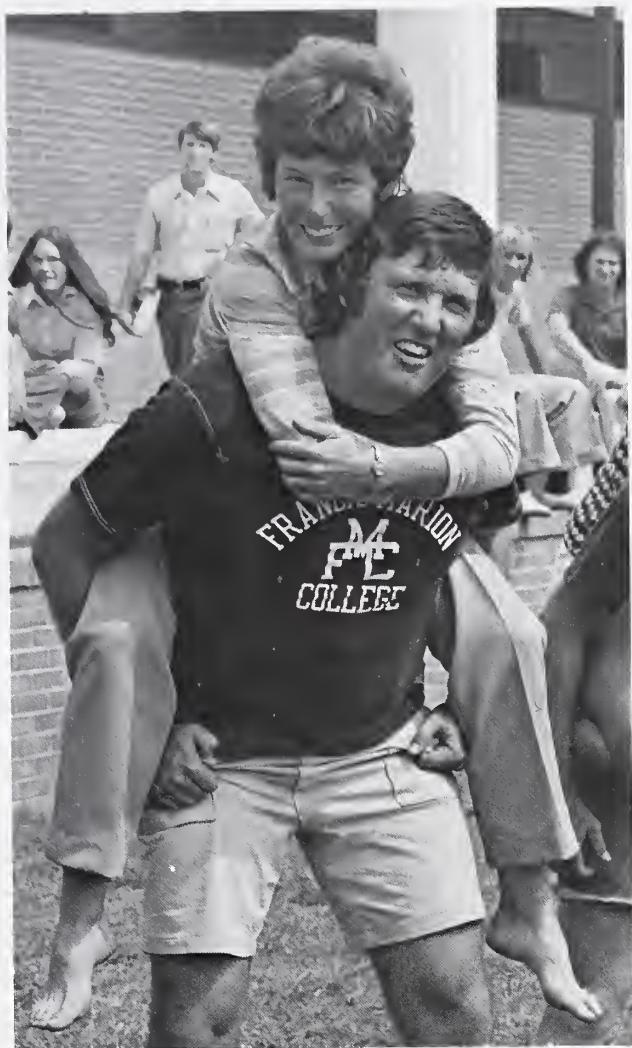

Two Saturday night dances at Florence Country Club served as the prelude and conclusion of Patriot Week activities.

INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

The Intramural Sports program at Francis Marion College is an extensive sports program for the students, faculty, and staff designed to offer a wide range of activities that will meet the needs and desires for competition of a majority of these people.

The 1973-1974 intramural program started with a surprise as the Freshman remained undefeated and captured the football title.

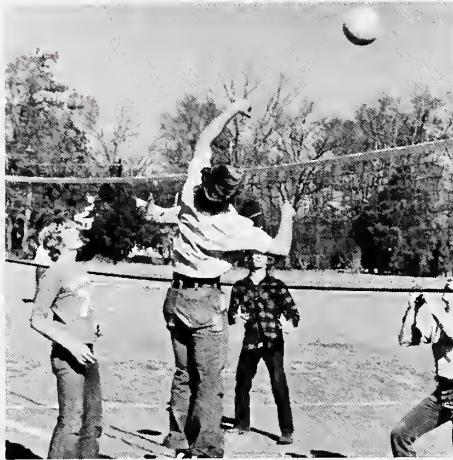

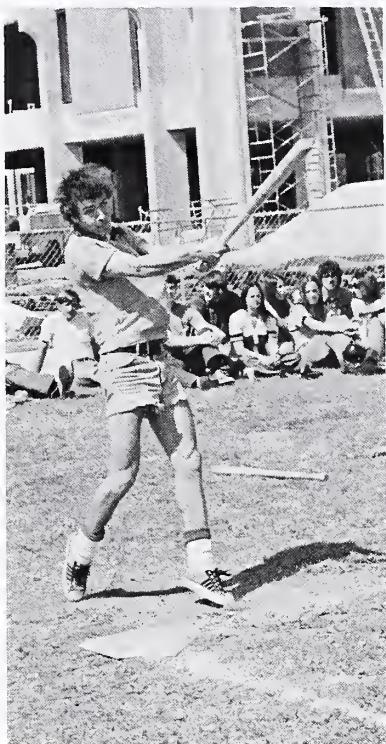

After football it was all ASUS, which took first place in volleyball, basketball, and softball. In winning the three events ASUS boosted their overall point total to 278 and captured the Intramural Sports Crown for 1973-1974. PiKA was runner-up in the point standing with 199 total points.

In other sports KEG finished first in overall ping-pong as Page and Rozier finished first and second for individual honors and teamed to take first in doubles competition. The faculty finished first in overall tennis though Bo-Harrison and J. Robinson finished first for KA in doubles competition.

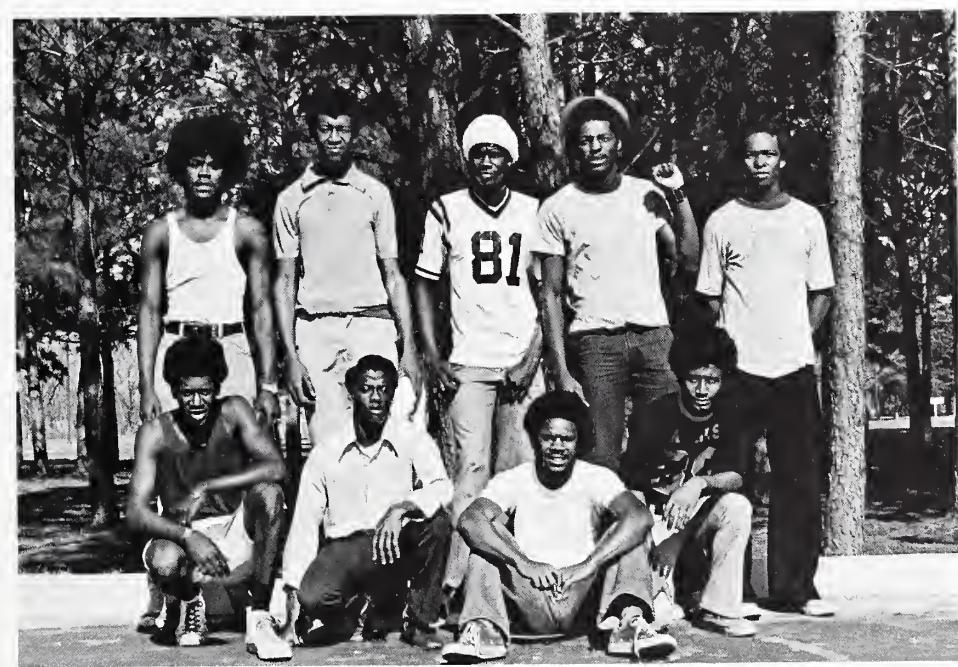

The year came to an exciting close in intramurals as both ASUS and PiKA finished the regular softball season with 4-1 season records resulting in a playoff. In the championship game ASUS defeated PiKA 17-5 and clinched first place in intramural softball and overall point standings.

BASKETBALL '73-'74

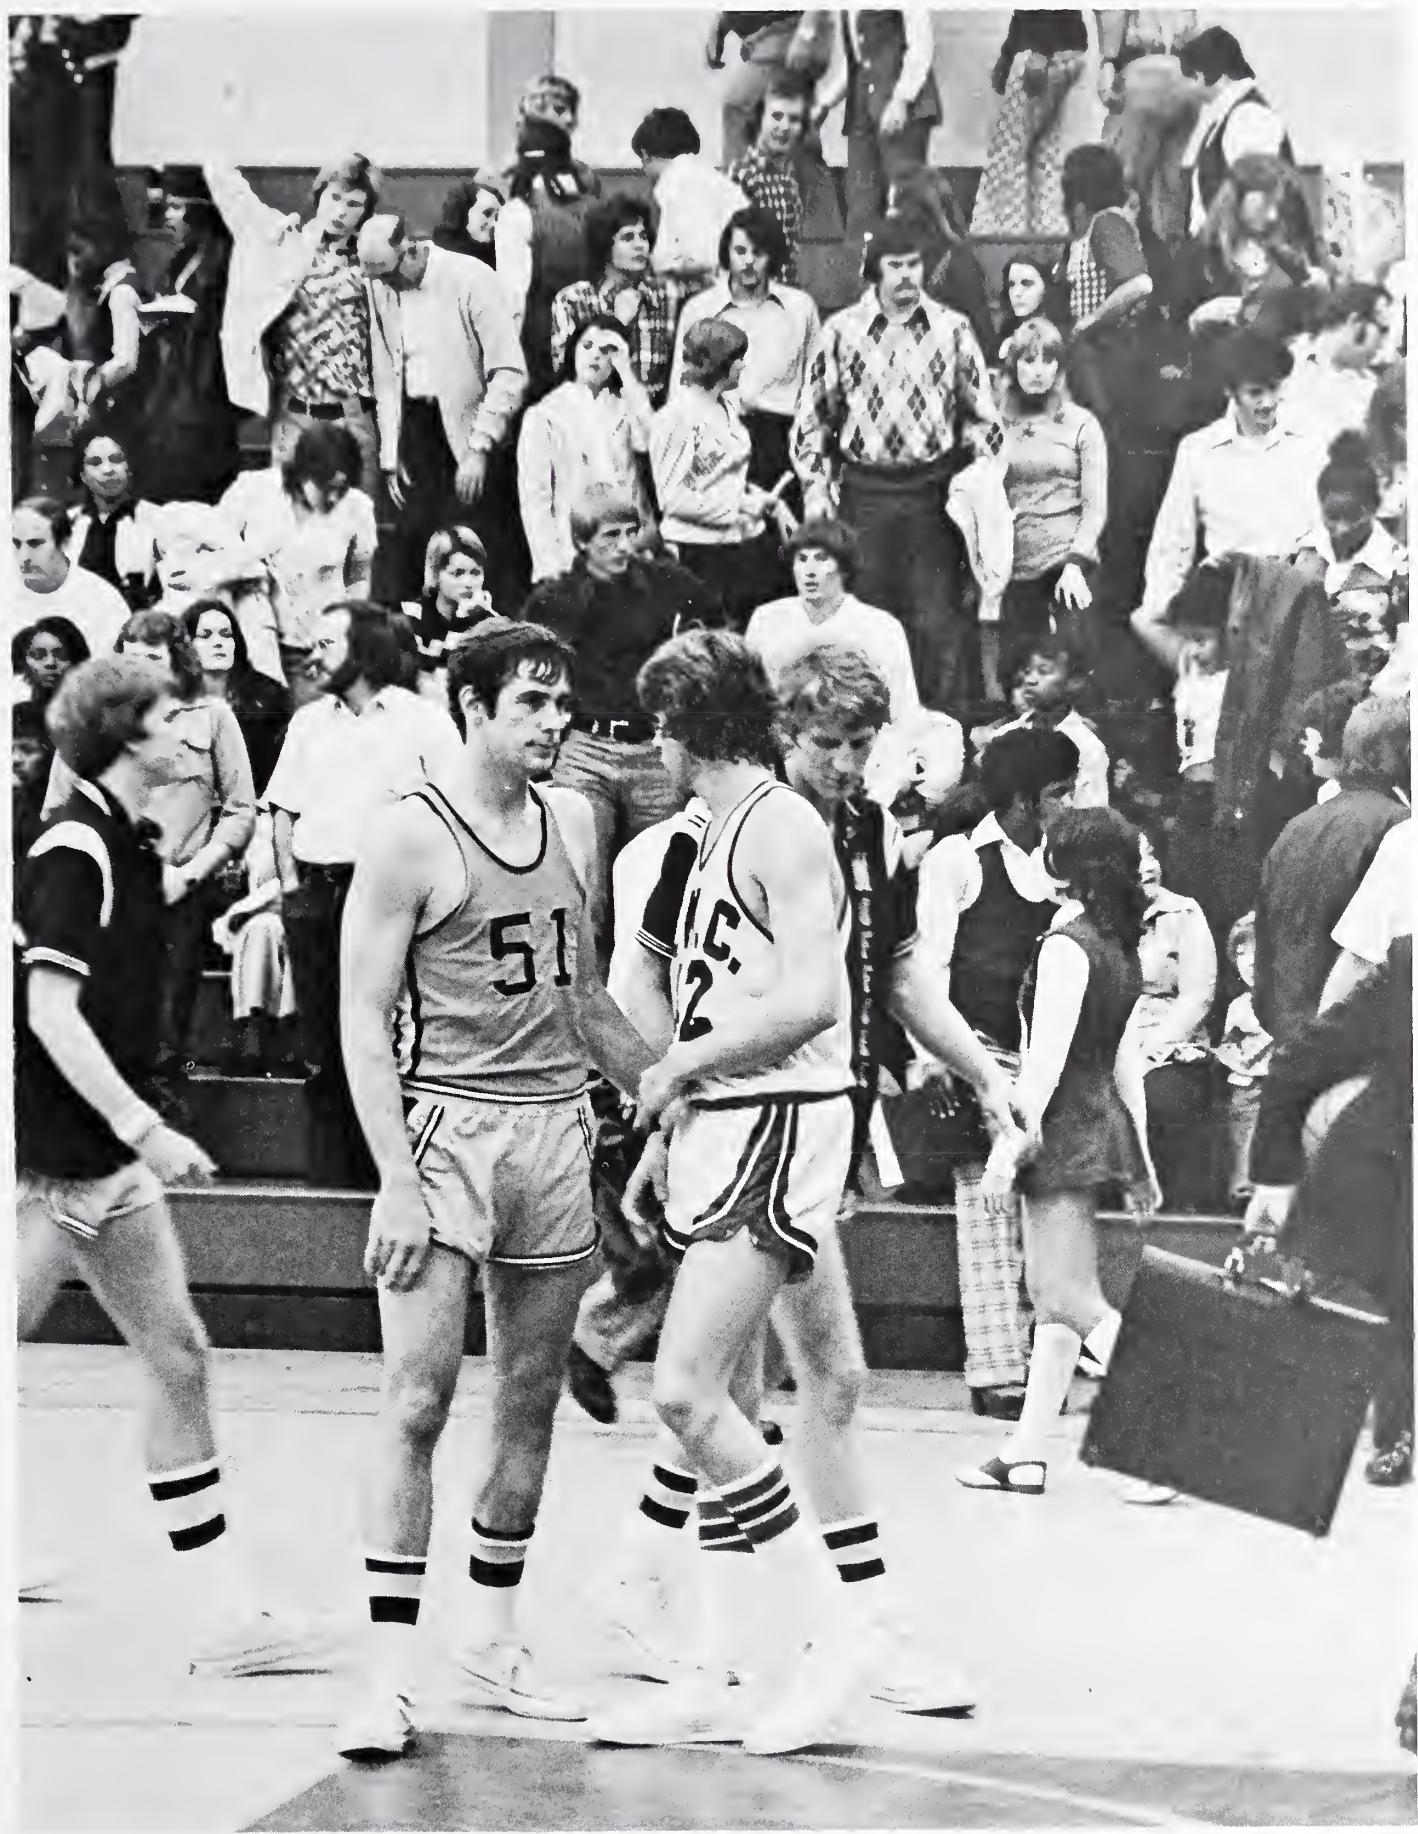

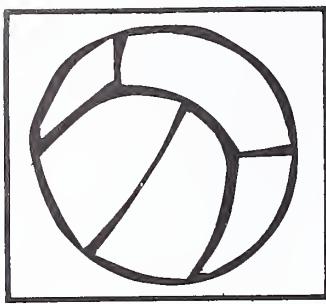

After four weeks of pre-season conditioning, the 1973-1974 Patriot Basketball team settled down to work their way through a tough schedule. Under the direction of new coach Tim Watson, the team had to adapt to a new system with new ideas. And the players accepted the challenge with enthusiasm and team unity. While the season record of 9-16 could not be termed fantastic, it was the best season recorded for the Patriots, and the future looks really bright. The Patriots created excitement each time they took to the floor. They were rewarded with wins over Wofford, Lander, and P.C. - also a first for the Patriots. Close losses were recorded to Newberry, Wofford, College of Charleston, and Lander. The team felt that with some extra effort and luck these could have been victories. With all but one letterman returning, the 1974-1975 season should prove to be a much better one.

Basketball is quite renowned in the Pee Dee area, and the FMC women's team placed a 16-4 season on the slate for their initial intercollegiate year. YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Young Republicans help generate interest in their beliefs and in the Republican Party.

Various speakers, including United States Representative Ed Young, exchanged ideas with members during the year. Highlighting the year was the organization's helping with arrangements for John B. Connally's visit to Florence.

CAMPUS CRIER

The Campus Crier is a weekly four-page tabloid which serves as a major information source on campus. The Crier provides news as well as features on students and faculty. It offers students a chance to learn journalistic practice.

This year editorial responsibilities were shared by three student writers: Russell Byrd, sports; Terry Nichols, features; and Phyllis Youmans, news. The staff worked under their coordinator, Mrs. Chris Camlin.

VIGNETTES

The goal of the staff of Vignettes '74 has been to reflect, to some degree of accuracy, the events and activities occurring at Francis Marion during the entire school year. The staff has attempted to fulfill the wishes of the FMC family. Criticisms of previous yearbooks have been taken into consideration since the staff felt them generally to be constructive rather than destructive. There has been a sincere attempt on the part of this staff to involve as many people as possible in the construction of this book. Hopefully more students will become instrumental in the planning of future yearbooks, which offers the possibility of progressively more representative and complementary records of events at Francis Marion.

GREEKS

GREEK WEEK

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the governing and administrative body of the Greeks. IFC helps organize projects for the Greeks as part of the overall goal of helping the community, the campus, and the Greeks themselves.

Fall Rush saw over 200 applicants. The Greeks sponsored a Rush Day during which brothers and rushees met and got to know each other during a barbecue dinner and at a dance.

Greeks were involved in many projects, including helping with Girl Scout Field Day, collecting candy at Halloween, and assisting with a variety of charitable activities.

Greek Week was a great success. Events included a chariot race, a pie-eating contest, a tug of war, and various other competitions. KEG and ZTA emerged as the victors.

As the year concluded two fraternities had affiliated with national organizations, and two sororities had colonized. In all, the Greeks had an enjoyable and profitable year.

On March 22, 1974 Kappa Sigma Nu officially became the Delta Tau Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order. It was the first local fraternity to "go national."

Activities during the year included helping with Girl Scout Field Day, selling bike reflectors, collecting money for charities, and assisting with the Walk-a-thon.

Members of the fraternity "kidnapped" the Mayor of Florence and subsequently raised over $800 in "ransom" for the needy. The project resulted in the fraternity's receiving an award from the Salvation Army.

First organized in 1965 at Florence Regional Campus of the University of South Carolina, Kappa Epsilon Gamma is the oldest fraternity on campus. Continued efforts along the lines of Kinship, Equality, and Growth made for a successful year.

Brothers worked hard both on and off campus. Projects included raising money for charities, serving as tour guides, and supporting athletic events. KEG emerged victorious from Greek Week competition.

Sigma Delta Alpha received its charter as a social-service sorority on November 2, 1973 and was colonized by Phi Mu just four months later.

The sisters have been extremely active both on and off campus during the year. They have served as tour guides, worked at registration, and helped in various fund-raising projects. At Christmas time, the sorority sponsored a party, including singing, at a local nursing home.

On May 18, 1974 Alpha Kappa Pi officially became the Theta Delta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha. It was the first local fraternity to become a colony of a national organization.

PiKA has been active in a variety of local and college affairs. Activities included helping with Girl Scout Field Day, raising funds for charities, and helping with the Telerama.

Throughout the year, the brothers had special supper meetings. In addition, they sponsored a fish dinner for the alumni.

The Eta Chi Colony of Zeta Tau Alpha was established on April 7, 1974. Initially formed as Alpha Zeta Tau, the sorority is purposed on establishing a sisterhood which challenges the individual's character.

Projects of the year included building a float for the Christmas parade and helping to raise money for charities.

Highlight of the year was the sorority's Greek Week victory. The sisters concluded the year with a Mother-Daughter Dinner.

I (YOU)

I (You) felt you (me) deeply,
Not only as a woman (man),
But as a person (person).

You're (I'm) different. Not like the rest.
I (You) miss you (me) but you're (I'm) not gone.
I (You) love you (me) without having to see you (me).
Perhaps because you (I) let a part of me (you) grow
In you (me).

When I (you) blossom in you (me),
You (I) don't pluck me (you).
You (I) don't negate my (your) humanness.
You (I) let me (you) grow and . . .
Be me (you).

Thank you (me) for my (your) new petals.

S. VanBuskirk
